OLD PLOS IN NEW POLE .

It is rumored that there are to be more movings of Tammany pegs into new official holes. The story that Tax Commissioner Whalen intends to resign and to resume his law practice, which he finds more profitable than the Taxes and Assessment Depart. This will make a hole into which Charities Commissioner Sheehy is to be shifted, thus leaving a Charities and Correction hole into which Thomas S un, who has just left the Street-Cleaning hole, is to be fitted. When Brennan was placed in the Street-Cleaning hole he was taken out of the he left the Street-Cleaning hole Mr. Andrews, from the Excise Board hole, was placed in it in Brennan's place.

ere is no particular objection to these appointments, so far as the individuals are concerned. Mr. Sheeby may do as well in the Tax Department as he does in the Charities and Correction Department, and Mr. Brennan will no doubt do better as a Commissioner of Charities and Correction, in which position he has had many years' experience, than as a street cleaner, for which he was unfitted. The question is, are there no new pegs in the big Tammany organization who would like to fill some of these official holes? Will the men who do the work in the party be satisfied that all the holes shall be filled by the fortunate few who have fattened and swelled in other holes, and are only transferred from one well-filled crib to another? Is not turn about fair play? There are thousands of good men inside Tammany who have never filled an official hole at all. Are they contented to look and see their more favored associates constantly filling all the holes and only taken out it seems to be the mills and manufacof one good thing to be put into an-

To Stee Prag. Lege.

To stew them wash in two or three vaters, adding a little vinegar to the last. Pour boiling water over, and let hem stand five minutes; then put them to stew slowly in a sauce made of a ablespoonful each of butter and flour, thinned with a little water and flavored with lemon juice. This will be enough two pairs. Add the thin, yellow rind of the lemon, and let the legs cook slowly, until perfectly tender Lay them in a hot dish; ad the yolks of two eggs to the sauce, let it thicken slightly and pour over them.

Another way for a dainty stew is to put them in water enough to cover; add a little salt, some parsiey and thyme tied with a couple of onlone and a wineglassful of vinegar. When done take them out, put them into a deep dish and strain the dressing over them. Prepare some bread crumbs by frying in a little very hot outter, and spread thickly all over the

Cherse Clath Curtains

Years ago, before all the innumerable pretty and cheep cotton cloths were to be found in every shop. I saw some charming Summer curtains made from cheese cloth that cost just five cents a vard, and even now I know of nothing with which to supplant them that can e purchased for any approximate sum. On the soft creamy background were painted with indelible dye paints the rich, warm blossoms of the nasturtium colored pailletten or spanyles. These wide rolling collar and fining revers border the pictures and form devices in themselves.
